

Living Soil Farms

About us

We farm with Steve's parents, our two boys, Jadrian and Micah and our girl Natalia. We take care of 800 acres of grain and vegetables. In 2005 we sold the family dairy and started growing and selling vegetables directly to the consumer. We believe our food should be grown and sold locally in order to foster relationships between farmers and consumers. We are very concerned with soil nutrition as it directly affects the quality of our produce. We strive to grow a high quality, tasty, nutritional vegetables and grains. Our products are grown without chemical fertilizers or pesticides and will be certified organic in 2007. We use only soil amendments derived from natural processes approved by OPAM (Organic Producers Association of Manitoba) We monitor soil health by measuring soil nutrients including trace minerals as well as beneficial fungi and bacteria. We rotate our crops to control weeds while reducing tillage, encouraging beneficial microorganisms and increasing plant available nutrients.
